

The Steven A. Cohen Military Family Clinic at Centerstone

Meghan Williams

Outreach Director

Meghan.Williams@Centerstone.org

Meghan Williams holds a bachelor's degree in journalism and a certificate in public health. As a television news anchor, reporter, producer and print journalist, Meghan covered numerous stories involving our nation's veterans igniting her desire to support our military service men and women in all capacities. She chose to use her passion for compelling story telling to encourage healthy lifestyles, and worked as special staff to the Fort Campbell Senior Commander developing, planning, promoting and implementing wellness initiatives across the installation. As the Cohen Clinic Outreach Director, Meghan draws on her public relations experience and personal connection to the military culture to expand the clinic's reach, and encourage help seeking behavior through community awareness and stakeholder collaboration.