TENNESSEE

Department of Labor and Workforce Development

In Tennessee, the per capita personal income in 2011 was $36,533, up 4.6 percent from the previous year. Tennessee's per capita income amount ranked 38th in the United States. The U.S per capita income was $41,663, up from $39,937 (4.3 percent) in 2011. In 2010 this increase was 2.8 percent.

Per capita personal income is the annual total personal income of residents in each state divided by the population of the state. The Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) uses the Census Bureau's annual midyear population estimates. Personal income is derived by summing the net earnings by place of residence, any rental income, dividend and interest income, and transfer payments. Personal income is measured prior to deduction of state and federal income taxes as well as other personal taxes. All income is reported in current dollars. In simpler terms, it is the total income on the front page of your 1040 tax form. This data can be influenced by large growth (or decline) in population, natural disasters (i.e., flooding or hurricanes), commuting populations (those that primarily work in other counties), and state and local taxes.

Per Capita Income

In 2011, the states with the highest per capita income were the District of Columbia ($73,105), Connecticut ($56,889), Massachusetts ($53,621), New Jersey ($53,181), Maryland ($51,038), New York ($50,545), and Wyoming ($47,301). The poorest states (measured by per capita income) were Mississippi ($32,176), Idaho ($33,326), West Virginia ($33,513), Kentucky ($33,667), South Carolina ($33,673), Utah ($33,790), Arkansas ($34,014), and New Mexico ($34,575). Four of the lowest seven states are in the Southeast region, There were no states in the top or the bottom from the Midwest region.

From 2000 until estimated 2011, the per capita income in the U.S. increased by 37.4 percent. The states with the largest percentage gains were the District of Columbia (up 80.7 percent), North Dakota (up 78.8 percent), Louisiana (up 63.8 percent), Wyoming (up 61.7 percent), South Dakota (up 57.4 percent), and Montana (up 55.9 percent). States with the smallest increases, by percentage, were Nevada (up 23.2 percent), Michigan (up 24.3 percent), Georgia (up 26.5 percent), Indiana (up 29.5 percent), North Carolina (up 29.6 percent), and Colorado (up 29.7 percent).

State Ranking

These large percentage gains, over time, have greatly changed state rankings. Some of the largest gainers in rank from 2000 to 2011 are North Dakota (up 29 places), Louisiana (up 17 places), South Dakota (up 15 places), Montana (up 11 places), and Vermont (up 10 places). The biggest drop in rankings are Michigan (down 18 places); Nevada (down 16 places); Georgia (down 13 places); and Indiana, Ohio, and Oregon (each down 9 places).
